

ALDINO SANTOS DE CAMPOS

Member of the Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf – United Nations

Researcher at Research Centre of the Political Studies Institute – Portuguese Catholic University

ALDINO SANTOS DE CAMPOS holds a degree in Naval Military Sciences (Naval School - 1992) and specialized in hydrography (Hydrographic Institute - 1996). He holds a Master's degree in Geodesy and Geomatics Engineering (University of New Brunswick, Canada, 2001) and the Naval General Course of War (Instituto Superior Naval de Guerra - 2004). He also holds a PhD in Territory Engineering (Instituto Superior Técnico - 2009) and a PhD in International Relations (Faculty of Social and Human Sciences, Universidade Nova de Lisboa - 2021).

He is a researcher at the Research Center of the Institute of Political Sciences of the Portuguese Catholic University in the Line of Research in Sea Affairs (LIAM) in the area of global ocean governance.

Throughout his career he has conducted several hydrographic and geodesic missions in the continent and autonomous regions, as well as the duties of spatial data analyst with special focus in the area of bathymetric data management, accumulating with teaching activity in the School of Hydrography and Oceanography and Naval School. He was a guest professor of hydrography and geographic information systems at FCUL. Since 2004, he was coordinator in the area of geomatics in the Mission Structure for Platform Extension (EMEPC), having been responsible for the mission structure between 2013 and 2016.

In June 2017 he was elected to the Assembly of States Parties of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea for the position of member of the Continental Shelf Limits Commission (United Nations) for the 2017-2023 term, being reelected for the term 2023–2028 in the same Commission.